

Asheville Radio Museum to Hold Fundraiser Event

June 7 Event Includes the Sale of Antique, Ham, and Shortwave Radios from its Collection

ASHEVILLE, N.C. – May 12, 2025 – The not-for-profit Asheville Radio Museum is pleased to announce a fundraising event to be held on Saturday, June 7, 2025, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., at its location on the campus of Asheville-Buncombe Community Technical College (A-B Tech). Proceeds from the sale will enable the museum’s all-volunteer staff to continue acquiring noteworthy and rare radios, audio equipment, and accessories for public display and education. The museum, which has a five-star rating on Google, will be open during the fundraising event.

The museum chose to sell about 50 items for the fundraiser, including ham and shortwave radios and related products priced between $10 and $500 and antique radios and accessories priced between $65 and $150. Many items are fully functional, while others must be lightly or fully restored. Museum technical experts can provide information on each item and, if necessary, guidance about its restoration. The fundraising sale also includes the museum’s popular “Schematic T-Shirt,” priced at $20.

The fundraiser will be held on A-B Tech’s campus in Room 306 in the Elm Building, Asheville, NC 28801, across from the conference center garage. Set GPS devices to 16 Fernihurst Drive or 283 Victoria Road, Asheville, NC. For more information, go HERE to the Directions page on the museum’s website. Parking and admission to the fundraiser and museum are free.
